

Questions for Your Marriage

If you're looking for questions to help build your marriage here are a few to consider from www.fiercemarriage.com

1. What do you desire more than anything else?
2. What do you find yourself daydreaming or fantasizing about?
3. What are some things you struggled with this week?
4. What lies do you subtly believe that undermine the truth of the gospel?
5. How has technology interrupted your communion with God (if at all)?
6. How is your work a source of significance?
7. What fears keep you from resting in Christ?
8. Is your use of leisure time or devotion to a hobby or how you speak of your spouse the sort that persuades others that your heart is content with what God is for you in Christ?
9. When people observe your relationship with others, are they alerted to the power of Christ's forgiveness in your own life that alone accounts for your forgiveness of them (blessing your opponent)?
10. How has your heart been inclined to promote unity in the body of Christ?
